

I live in a smaller town where good radio is hard to find. Since I have found XM, driving has changed. We travel a great deal and use the weather and traffic channels quite often in the larger cities. It would be ideal if those services were also available to rural areas. As a subscriber, I deserve to listen to what I choose, not what is dictated by the NAB. It seems that so many cannot leave well enough alone. I strongly urge you to reject the NAB's petition 04-160.

Sincerely,
Tracy Smith
